Teacher: Okay, what are they fighting for?

Student: Equal rights.

Student: Equal rights.

Teacher: Equal rights?

Student: And pay.

Teacher: And pay. So who is they?

Student: Women.

Teacher: Women. Okay, so your question was, "Do you think that men would be holding it for them", is that what you said?

Student: If men would fight ... If some men would fight with on their side.

Teacher: Some men, on their side. What would your inference be?

Student: I don't know.

Teacher: What?

Student: I think their husbands would fight for them. Their husbands or their little sons or whatever.

Teacher: You would, right? But why not? Why wouldn't they then? That's an obvious response, why wouldn't they. But, they should.

Student: Maybe they didn't because other men put them down or something?

Teacher: Possibility. What else? Why wouldn't you stand up for your sister?

Student: Oh, my sister, oh.

Teacher: The obvious answer is, "I would, I would have stood up for my sister." But what do you think the other mentality would be, why not?

Student: Oh, for the men?

Teacher: Yeah.

Student: Maybe they're greedy or something?

Student: Or they don't want to be ... They don't think women can do the same thing that guys can do?

Teacher: Maybe. Okay, good. So that's just stemming from that one question that you guys were asking, so go ahead and write your question. And then maybe from that discussion, you guys can come up with a caption. And when you guys are ready to post, let me know. Okay?

Student: So here?

[00:02:00]

Student: People have to write down their usernames. So right here, we could make the line right there and our caption and then comments.

Teacher: Good, so write your question because you already answered your own question. So good ... So you guys are ready to write your ... Why don't you write your observation and then your question. Your question was, "Did this happen after the Little Rock Protest." Like, the boys wanted to go to school and it's probably, what did you say, Student?

Student: The first day of high school.

Teacher: Because based on their ...

Student: They're like, "What are you doing here?" And she's like, "I'm a student."

Teacher: I'm a student.

Student: Yeah.

Teacher: I need to be here. Okay, good. All right, nice. Go ahead and figure that out, and write your comment and when you're ready ...

Student: What's our comment?

Student: Women are great.

Student: Women are great, okay!

Student: Go women, we deserve our equality.
